MOMENTUM OF BATTLE IS INCREASING SAYS BAKER

Raids on Western Front Growing in Magnitude and Active Preparations Indicate Forerunner of the World's Greatest Battle is Under Way.

FRESH GERMAN UNITS CONTINUE TO ARRIVE ON WESTERN BATTLEFRONT

Sweden Files Protest Against German Occupation of Finland, While Russians Blow up Bridges on Trans-Siberian Railway — Turks Murder Armenians.

WASHINGTON, MARCH 4.—(Associated Press Dispatch) — Continued preparatory movements on the part of the Germans along the western front are noted today by the War Department in its review of the military situation for the week ending March 2.

"The momentum of battle is increasing," the statement declares, citing three attempts by the enemy to reach the lines held by American troops as an example of what is taking place "on a larger scale along the entire western front."

The definite announcement is made that American forces have taken over a sector northwest of Toul and that a number of detached units are in action in France.

The statement notes that during the three months of quietness on the western front both belligerents are massing their forces. At present there is evidence the Germans continue to bring up fresh units.

Turkish forces advancing in the Caucasus, the review says, are meeting with little resistance and are murdering Armenian residents of the district.

HUNS IN FINLAND DRAW PROTEST

WASHINGTON, March 4.—(Associated Press Dispatch) — Germany's occupation of the Aland islands is only a preliminary occupation of Finland. Official dispatches to the Swedish legation at Washington say Germany has announced to the Stockholm foreign office her intention to occupy Finland and that Sweden has protested.

Germany advised Sweden that it was necessary to temporarily occupy Finland to "restore order," but gave assurances she had no intention to take permanent possession of the territory. Sweden protested also against the Aland islands being placed in the war zone.

RUSS BLOW UP BRIDGES

WASHINGTON, March 4.—(Associated Press Dispatch)—The Russians have begun destroying bridges on the trans-Siberian railroad between Lake Baikal and the Chinese frontier. John F. Stevens, chairman of the American Railway Mission today told the State Department.

This may prevent Ambassador Francis from reaching the coast. While details are lacking, officials believe the Russians are destroying the bridges to prevent an expected advance of Japanese troops. A large number of other structures have been made so they could be destroyed.

INVASION OF RUSSIA CEASED SUNDAY

Military operations in Russia stopped yesterday, according to the German official statement issued today. Ratification of the treaty agreed to by the Russians has been fixed for Thursday, according to a Petrograd dispatch, but final decision rests with the all-Russian Congress of Councils of Workers, Peasants' and Cossacks' Deputies, which will assemble in Moscow March 12th. Vienna dispatches today still report operations in southeastern Russia.

According to the British war office, the Germans dropped 1432 bombs in the area occupied by British troops in France during January, while the English aviators dropped 7,553 bombs in enemy areas during that period.

Norway continues to suffer heavily from German submarines, according to cablegram from the Norwegian legation at Washington today. Twelve vessels of a total of 16,238 gross tons and valued at $3,000,000 were sunk during February, the dispatch says. Nineteen seamen lost their lives and 20 are missing.

GET FREEDOM

NEIGHBORS PLAN WAR CHEST FUND PLAN GROWS HERE

Ross county will soon launch a campaign for a war chest fund, and expects to raise amount sought in a very short time, using the same methods as those employed at Columbus.

Clinton county also is preparing for a war chest fund drive in the very near future, while Scioto county is planning such a fund in the very near future, expecting to raise $250,000.

The plan proposed in Scioto county carries the following provisions:

One per cent of income up to and including $1500.

One and one-half per cent of incomes of $1501 to and including $2,000.

Two per cent of incomes of $2,001 to and including $2500.

Persons whose earnings are in excess of $2500 annually, asked to contribute an amount to be decided upon by the committee.

In this county the sentiment favoring a war chest fund is growing because, in the campaign the raising of funds necessary for meeting necessary expense of relief work and a host of other problems, is taken care of in a single campaign. Already two or three problems requiring funds await action in this county, including the Red Cross, which is handicapped because of lack of sufficient funds with which to carry on the commendable work.

A NEW BRAND OF PATRIOTISM

A large audience filled the First Presbyterian church Sunday night when Rev. W. B. Gage shot right from the shoulder in patriotic and timely sermon on conservation.

He said in part:

"All hail to the women for loyal support accorded our conservation program. But the shame of manhood is its failure to extend due proportion of co-operation. There is no question as to the fact of masculine remissness. The household head does not support meals wheatless, and meals meatless. The regular ration is frequently at his insistence maintained.

Physiologically we know that as men advance toward middle life the measure of the waist increases. The stomach is of prime importance. The wounds of war must never touch it. The front line of battle must not come to their table. They will talk patriotically; and read patriotically; and cheerfully pay taxes like real patriots, but they will not eat patriotically. They will not eat unselfishly. They will not eat as befits a Christian.

"Some of them say grace before their meals. Some of them beseech the blessing of Christ upon their food. But will He hear them? Will He answer?"

wer? Here is the question that I ask. Can Christ bless a meal that is so salted with unselfishness, that it has made no dietary provision to assist the need of others? Can Christ bless wheat bread, that for France's sake, should be made of corn meal? Can he bless a portion of meat, that we may relish, but is not necessary, and should be saved as our contribution to those over there, all of whose days would otherwise be meatless? Aren't we greedy gluttons in our eating? Aren't we supremely selfish in our saying, 'we have always had what we wanted to eat, and we are always going to?' We have patriotic hearts; and patriotic voices to cheer for our soldiers and we have patriotic purses to give. But what we now want is appetites controlled by patriotism; and a table regime that is ruled by love instead of selfish consideration.

"A slice of wheat bread is not much. But if each family would daily save one by eating less bread; and a second slice by substitutions of other forms of bread, counting 14 slices to the loaf, America would thereby daily make available for France 2,857,142 loaves. Come brothers of the fellowship of the well laden table; ye heavy trenchers, lovers of good eating come here is your task for patriotism—to eat for Old Glory—not to die—but diet for the flag."

DRIVE FOR RED CROSS WAR FUND WEEK OF MAY 6-13

Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky will be asked to contribute $9,400,000 in the Second Red Cross War Fund Drive for $100,000,000. R. F. Grant, director of the drive in the Lake Division has announced. The drive dates are May 6 to 13.

Ohio's quota is $6,400,000, Indiana's $2,100,000 and Kentucky's $900,000. Mr. Grant of M. A. Hanna & Co., of Cleveland, appointed to the War Fund directorship by Division Manager James R. Garfield, stated today each state in the Lake Division will have its own drive manager. Names of the state managers will be announced in a few days.

Prominent cartoonists and artists have contributed poster drawings. Authors and advertising men have written advertising copy. Seasoned campaigners and accountants have prepared drive instructions and accounting manuals.

"Performances and expenditures of the American Red Cross abroad and at home during the first year of the war will be placed before the public before the second drive begins," Mr. Grant said today.

"Last summer with but little organization, the Red Cross secured subscriptions amounting to $119,000,000. And now with a membership of 22,000,000 we have every reason to believe that the $100,000,000 fund will be over-subscribed."

Not A Scare, But A Fact

Tomorrow every man, woman and child in Fayette County will be asked to contribute a small loan to the government to enable it to carry on the war. Who knows but the humble twenty-five cents invested in a thrift stamp by some school boy or girl might be a foundation to the successful prosecution of the war.

Consider this—that if the war is lost all is lost, money, as well as liberty and every man, woman and child living today will be the slave of Germany during their natural lives.

This is not a scare, but a fact, we have the example of the countries they occupy and be sure that every threat they have made against this country will be carried out. Before the opening of the war the German Kaiser, said that he would bring America to her knees and make her pay an indemnity that would stagger the world.

The Thing We Can't Have

Oh joy! The grocer had brown sugar today!

How we've missed our Boston baked beans and other favorite dishes that didn't have just the right flavor without that brown sugar!

And that makes us realize how the values of relative little things are changing just as are those of greater moment in these days.

Who would have thought of brown sugar ever being in the class of the longed for but unattainable! The lowly brown sugar—not at all in the cut loaf class—we bought it as a matter of course, used it where the recipe called for it, but all the time regarded it as the poor relation of granulated or domino! Now that we can't get it and the grocer says, "I don't know when we'll have any brown sugar" it becomes the one thing that we must have and can't do without.

Human nature, isn't it?

Labor For Fayette Farms

A new field of thought is opened in the following editorial contributed to the Herald as a possible solution of the present labor problem.

"The problem of farm labor is before us. Spring finds the fields with few ploughmen, and the prospect of few harvesters if a crop is raised. Reduced acreage is almost a certainty. By what miracle can we equal the agricultural production of a year ago? Much corn yet stands in untouched sheaves. The mild weather summons us to the double task of caring for the produce of last year, and doing the necessary work of the season.

"To meet this, advice is given to purchase tractors, and secure the most modern of labor saving devices. We know that long and weary days are before us in Fayette county. Many whose farming has heretofore consisted in planning, and management will be forced to do physical toil. And the advanced years of some of these, makes it hazardous to health. Hence we ask, how long will we allow the labor unions of the Pacific Coast, to thus hamper us, by their insistence that Chinese labor be excluded?

"It might not be best under ordinary conditions to admit the Chinese. But these are most extraordinary times. We are told that food must be found for the feeding of the allies, and that America must find it. Did we allow the entrance of these oriental laborers, we would have the finest farm hands upon whom the sun shines. They are industrious, toiling from sun to sun. They are easily managed, easily taught, and constitute no moral menace to the community where they live.

"Two thousand five hundred ships are ready to transport them, and they are eager to come. California doesn't want them. Their laboring men fear this competition. And well they may. But Canada overrides all this. Thousands of them are now working for our Northern Neighbor, taking the place of the young men who have gone to the front. No, California doesn't want them. But we do. We need them. After the war they can go home. Their race makes them easily detected. Six months would see the last of them sent back. Fayette County eagerly listened for this important action upon the part of Congress last Fall. An ear is again turned to Washington, realizing that she can not render the maximum of patriotic service agriculturally, till the Chinese exclusion act is repealed or suspended during the war."

Poetry For Today

THE TRUCE OF THE TIGER

"Let us have peace and live as friends," the wily tiger said: The sloth bear cocked a listening ear and scratched his shaggy head.

"Let us have peace as brethren should," the crouching tiger purred; And the great, warm heart of the weary bear was very deeply stirred.

"Enough, enough of blows and blood," the bear's gruff answer came.

"I shall call a truce to the war we wage if you will do the same.

"I shall let you bind with wire of steel my mighty fighting paws.

"If you in turn will pledge to me to shear your cruel claws."

"Well spoken, friend," the tiger whined, as he bound the large sloth bear.

"My claws will soon be harmless as the pads of the limping hare."

Thereat he sank his talons through the sloth bear's wondering eyes, And gashed his breast. The wounded beast implored the heedless skies.

The tiger snarled: "No pledge I own, no truce, no oath, no law. But the force that dwells in a sudden spring and the clutch of my mighty claw."

"Beware, beware," the great bear moans, as, blinded, he makes his way;

"Beware the lure of the tiger's truce or be what I am today.

"Beware the purr of the crouching cat, beware of its tricky whine; Or else—in a stroke of its wending claw—your fate shall be as mine."

HOW JOE FOUND HIMSELF

CHAPTER SEVEN.

Joe tucked his pass for his twenty-four hours leave in his pocket and hurried for the train that was to take him home. He had been in camp for five weeks, and now, NOW he was soon to see his mother and father and Irma again. Joe had never thought about his home much before he joined the army, only as a place to go when everything else was closed up. Those five weeks had made a big difference in him. The stoop shouldered, careless slouch was all gone and had left a clear-eyed, snappy mannered young man, who, when he thought back to his former life and lack of ambition, smiled to himself and murmured, "what a boob I was, I'm kinda glad this war happened, for I'd probably be hanging out with the old gang yet, and nobody yet got fat doing that except above the ears." Joe got off the train at his home town and the station agent, whom he knew, greeted him with a hearty, "Hello there General, you sure look fit to wallop that Kaiser guy," and with a wave of his hand Joe hurried on home. He had not let them know at home that he was coming and went around the house to the back door. He opened the door of the kitchen slowly and peeked in. His mother was busily bending over the stove and he tiptoed over to her and putting his hands over her eyes said: "Guess who?" His mother flung her arms around his neck and hugged him and hugged him. Then she held him off at arm's length and hugged him some more while her eyes filled with tears of happiness.

"Why didn't you tell us you were coming Joe and I would have had the chicken and dumplings you like so well." "Don't you worry about that mother mine, that stew and hot biscuits listens pretty good to a young 'Kaiser Katcher' that's been on the train for five hours, where's dad?" "He's gone down to the store for the evening paper," his mother answered, "ever since you joined the army, your dad has been awfully excited about the war. Reads every line of it and studies all the maps. There's been a great change in your dad, he talks about you continually and I think at last he's beginning to be mighty proud of his son."

"And Irma?" Joe asked, Joe's mother looked at him closely as she answered. "Irma comes over most every night and we talk while we are knitting. She's making you something nice, but I won't tell what it is, I'll let her show it to you, she'll be over tonight after supper." Just then the front door opened and Joe's father came in. Seeing Joe a look of pleasure came over his face—something Joe could never remember happening in former days—as he came into the room and grasped Joe's hand. H. C. (To be continued)

BIG WAR SAVINGS STAMP DRIVE TO OCCUR TOMORROW

Everything is now ready for the initial drive for the sale of War Savings and Thrift Stamps, Tuesday.

A house to house canvass will be made in every part of the city and county.

Every man, woman and child will have abundant opportunity to show just how much they are interested in "backing the boys in the trenches" and making their own homes safe from German frightfulness.

The first drive is expected to carry the plan of the War Savings and Thrift stamps into every home. Financial men regard the investment in war savings stamps as better than Liberty Bonds—from a financial standpoint.

During this year Fayette county must take $435,000 worth of the savings and Thrift stamps. Everyone can help because any sum from 25c upward can be invested.

Not a single worker of the great organization built up by the Fayette County War Work Council receives a single cent for his work in any of the drives. Every cent obtained by the sale of the stamps is for winning the war. The stamps are nothing more or less than "Baby Bonds" which pay four per cent compounded three times each year, and the interest and principle in 1923.

For instance during this month $4.14 will buy stamps for which the government, in 1923 will pay the holder $5.

When the War Work Council goes over the top Tuesday, let every citizen assist in the great work by being prompt to respond and with as large amount as possible.

FISH AND GAME MEETING.

The Fayette County Fish and Game Protective Association will meet at the Probate Judge's office tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

THE LIFE INSURANCE MAN

Social and Personal

The local W. C. T. U. met in the Federation Club rooms, Friday at 2 p. m. The President, Mrs. Van Gundy conducted the devotional and also the Business session.

The program was a Francis E. Willard memorial service and was unusually well attended.

Mrs. Frank Christopher had charge of the program and read an excellent paper in which she told what the Francis E. Willard memorial fund was doing as a means to hasten national prohibition.

Miss Edge rendered a beautiful piano solo.

Mrs. Will Bishop read some memories of Francis E. Willard, also parts of a letter written to Jane Stewart while Miss Willard was traveling in this and other countries in the interest of the temperance work. These words show much of the sweet consecrated life that was given so unselfishly to the work of temperance, for which Miss Willard gave her best efforts.

In one letter she wrote, "Tell the children for me that whoever has any talent and uses it the best he can will find it like a golden chain lifting him out of the pit of ignorance and obscurity to the sunny hills of abundant success," also other sketches and as France is the scene of much interest at the present moment here is a sketch from Miss Willard's pen when in that same country in the interest of the Armenian refugees.

"This is a most unexpected turn of affairs," she writes. "As I stand in the refuge—a great hospital building granted us by the government, surrounded by the dark-faced, half-bred crowd of Armenian porters, barbers, bank clerk, students, women, children and babies, all and each of them an embodied need, it seems as if life had opened a new world. As I look down into the court and see stalwart Armenian men, washing clothes for the women and children in stone troughs, hanging them up on clothes-lines that thread the space almost as closely as a spider's web, see this lovely Southern sunlight falling on these men through the bright, beautiful plane trees to which the ropes are tied; and think why they are there—on their knees washing out ragged garments, my heart is deeply stirred.

"They have been driven from home, to penury, and their lives save only by kind European help, because they stood true to our Christian faith. That is their crime, and for two mortal years the Christian powers have let all this go on!

Mrs. Frank Kennedy read a paper entitled "The Francis E. Willard Memorial Fund," after which three young boys Ralph Briggs, Francis Marion Kennedy and David Larrimer, delighted the women with a song. Mrs. W. C. Briggs read a paper entitled "Americanization."

"America" was sung very effectively by four girls, the misses Dorothy Dick, Laura Brownell, Dorothy Briggs and Mary Foreman, each girl holding a large flag representing France, Italy, England and the United States. These flags were made by the 8th grade school girls and were much appreciated.

The meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. Stafford the fourth Friday in March.

A social hour followed and dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. John Merriweather, Mrs. Reno, Mrs. Dodd and Mrs. H. L. Spray.

The Belgian Babies' Benefit recorded itself a success beyond the greatest expectations and netted $215, a sum which will enable the Mothers' Circle to complete the work undertaken for the unhappy mothers of Belgium.

On both Friday and Saturday afternoons the pretty tea room was thronged with women who were deeply interested in the beautifully made layettes and liberal patrons of the booths and their wares.

The flower booth was indeed a thing of fresh springtime beauty, with lovely little baskets filled with spring blossoms, dozens of carnations, tulips and jonquils, blooming potted plants, gaily decked pots, and few were the people who went out without a flower. The delicacies of the Hoover booth were so well liked that everything was sold out before late customers arrived.

Women visited at the pretty tea tables, each bearing springtime decoration, and it was really a very popular way of raising money.

Edison music from a fine machine kindly donated by Sommers & Son, piano dealers, added to the entertainment features.

The women of the circle were much gratified over the success of the affair and were deeply appreciative of donations received.

Mrs. Buck's wonderfully liberal donation from the Buck Floral Gardens of all the flowers for both days was a big factor in both added attraction and proceeds. Mr. Frank Beading made the affair possible by his donating of the room; the big sign was donated by Glen Boots of the Y. M. C. A., and the women were further indebted to leading business houses of the city for decorations and supplies and to those women who donated for the Hoover table.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Yerian and family entertained at dinner Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. David C. McCune, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Lower and family; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd E. Yerian and son Glendon; Mr. G. W. Lower and Samuel Wardus Lower.

The day was one of much pleasure to which pretty vocal solos by Mrs. Herman D. McCune (nee Vivian Bobbitt) and phonograph music contributed.

Miss Levon and Mr. Cecil Yerian assisted in the hospitalities and the younger children were indebted to the cunning little four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd E. Yerian and Arthur Lower for a merry round of games.

The Department of Household Economics presents its last program for the year to the Browning Club Tuesday night.

Three papers will be presented—Mrs. Mary Flynn on "Division of Income;" Mrs. Roma Brown on "Dress Reform;" Mrs. Daph Persinger, "Home and its Relation to the Community."

THE WONDERFUL SERPENT MOUND IN ADAMS COUNTY

Description of Some of the History of Great Serpent Constructed on Plateau in Adams County, 17 Miles Southeast of Hillsboro

A great many Fayette countians
have visited the wonderful serpent mound in northern Adams county—
one of the most historic mounds in the world. However a much greater number of Fayette county citizens have never beheld the mighty serpent
left behind by a people who inhabited North America a great many hundred of years before Columbus discovered America.

The mound is easily reached by automobile from this city, and the tract of land around the great mound
is owned by the state, and a beautiful park offers a delightful spot for a picnic dinner in the spring, summer or fall.

To those who have visited the mound, as well as to those who have not, the following article, which was written by a former Highland countarian, will be of absorbing interest:

Following a graveled path winding up the hill from the picnic grove to the plateau, the first point of archaeological interest is reached. This is a conical mound nine feet high and seventy feet in diameter. Northwest of this and not far from the Serpent, is an old burial place, which was shown the site of a village, as shown by the ash beds, the many implements in various stages of manufacture, the many thousand chips of flint and other stones foreign to the locality, and the many potsherds and other objects
scattered throughout the dark soil.
A small mound about a foot high, west of the path leading from the road to the Serpent, and a few stones nearer the path mark the position of the cemetery, and all about here skeletons have been found in the dark soil or in the clay below it.

On the north side of the park road,
on one of the projecting points of the plateau, now marked by several piles of stones, which were taken from around the graves in the clay below
the soil, where graves of the first period of occupation. On the knoll west of this, over which a wild cherry tree now casts its shade, is a low oblong mound, a monument over four ancient graves. From this knoll, looking toward the setting sun, there is a grand view of the valley and the hills beyond; and standing on this spot one can readily imagine why it may have been chosen as the burial place of the honored among the people whose sacred temple was near by.

North of this knoll on the declivity
of the plateau to the cliff are three circular pits, varying in size; and most of the clay used in building the effigy
of the Serpent, was probably taken from these places.

Following the ridge of the hill
northerly to the overhanging rocks,
one is forced again to pause and admire the scene before him—the beautiful hill-girt valley; the silvery line
of the creek with grand sycamores
and graceful elms along its banks;
and the vistas opening here and there,
where the broader and deeper portions of the stream are bordered with dark green undergrowth, brightened
by gleams of rich color.

Turning from this view, and ascending the little knoll behind the ledge, eighty feet from the edge of the cliff is the western end of the oval figure, in front of the Serpent's jaws. This oval is 120 feet long and 60 feet in its greatest width, measured from the outer edge of the bank,
which is about 4 feet high and 18 feet across. Near the center of the enclosed area is a small mound of stones
which was formerly much larger,
since it was thrown down over fifty years ago by digging under it in search of supposed hidden treasures,
the popular belief which has caused the destruction of many an ancient cave.

Many of the stones show signs of fire, and under the cliff are similar burnt stones which were probably taken from the mound years ago; for an old gentleman who remembers the stone mound as it was in his boyhood, says that many stones taken from the mound were thrown over the cliff.

This portion of the plateau was either leveled off to the clay before the oval work was made, or there was no black soil upon the hill at that time, as none was used in the construction of the embankment, now left below it. The same is true of the Serpent itself. Careful examination of several sections made through the oval and the serpent, as well as laying bare the edge along both sides of the embankments throughout, have shown that both parts of this earth-work were first outlined upon a smooth surface along the ridge of the hill. In some places, particularly at the western end of the oval, and where the Serpent approaches the steeper portions of the hill, the base
was made with stones, as if to prevent its being washed away by heavy rains. In other places clay, often mixed with ashes, was often used in making these outlines; and it is evident that the whole structure was most carefully planned, and thoroughly built of lasting material.

The geological formation of the plateau shows first the ledge of rock,
on which rests the decayed grayish rock forming the so-called mark of the region, the upper portion of which has by decomposition become a gray-ish clay. Over this lies the yellow clay of the region, filling in all irregularities, and vary in thickness
from one to six feet. Upon this rests
the dark soil of recent formation,
from five inches to nearly two feet

in thickness in different parts of the park. It is necessary to have this information constantly in mind, as we must, to a certain extent, rely upon it in determining the antiquity of the works and burial places.

Upon removing the sod in the oval,
the dark soil in the central portion was found to be nearly a foot in depth, where it must have formed after the oval was built. How many centuries are required for the formation of a foot of vegetable mold we may not know; but here, on the hard clay forming the floor of the oval was about the same depth of soil as on the level ground near the tail of the Serpent, where it has been forming ever since vegetation began to grow upon the spot. The same results were obtained on removing the soil from the triangular space between the Ser-pent's jaws; and that there was about the same amount of soil on the embankments is shown by the fact that the several mounds had not disturbed the underlying clay of which the embankments were constructed.

The accompanying cross-section

LEARN TO USE THE NEW FLOURS
Buying wheat flour and other cereals pound for pound brings us to a consideration of some of these new pro-

the housewife. Here are some recip-

3/4 cup soy bean meal; 3/4 cup flour;
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder; 1 1/2
cup milk.

Cream fat and sugar together; add
the well beaten egg. Sift dry ingredients together and add alternately
with the milk to the mixture.

Wheatless Pie Crust.

1 1/2 cups rye flour, 1 1/2 cups barley flour, 3/4 cup rice flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 3/4

A story of how a young girl acted as god-mother to three prison-

Don't think you will see a lot of battles, killing and gruesomeness.
If you are looking for that kind of a picture don't see this one.
It is highly dramatic, but there is nothing in it to bring to mind

CORN SPOILING IN CRIB AND FIELD

Farmers are reporting a heavy spoilage of corn, both in the crib and in the shock, due to lack of maturing
last fall and the unusual conditions
since that time.

In some instances dozens of ears in a single shock are found to be either wholly or partly decayed, while in the tighter cribs there is much bad corn on many farms throughout the county. Even in rail pens, where the air circulation is fairly good, spoilage has been reported.

RADIUM IS NOW OFFERED TO ALL FOR RHEUMATISM

This Great Rheumatic Curative Property Can Now be Tried at Home at a Cost No Greater Than for Ordinary Medicines.

Radium is one of the most efficient curative properties for rheumatism
known to medical science.

But—
Radium treatments in the past have been enormously expensive and the cost has prohibited the average man or woman who suffered from rheumatism from trying it. Either the sufferer had to journey to some hot springs to drink the water containing the radium emanations or go to an institution known as an "Emanator-ium" where the radium treatment was taken by inhaling the gas—or emanations—given off from a quantity of pure radium.

Now, however, the radium treatment is not expensive. Sufferers from rheumatism can try radium right in their own homes and the cost is no greater than the cost of ordinary medicines.

The manufacturers of Tanlac, the most widely known general system
tonic in America, have placed a medicine for rheumatism on the market
and it contains radium.

Tanlac Rheumatism Treatment, under which name the new medicine is being introduced, is complete. It consists of a tablet for internal use and a medicament for external use. Each of the tablets for internal use produces four mache units of genuine radium emanation.

If you suffer from the aches and pains and twinges of rheumatism get Tanlac Rheumatism Treatment today
and get a real medicine for this dreaded complaint. You can get Tanlac Rheumatism Treatment at any good drug store where you get Tanlac, the famous tonic. Advt.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young. To do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimple— a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

BIG GATHERING OF MASONS WILL BE HELD FRIDAY

100 Candidates Will Take Degree to be Administered by Noted Columbus Class—Large Number of Visitors Coming—First Time Such Work Ever Conferred in This City.

A meeting which is creating widespread interest in Masonic circles in Washington and surrounding towns will be held in this city Friday, March 8th, when Fayette Council No. 100 R. & S. M. will confer the eighth, ninth and tenth degrees of York Rite Masonry on a class of fifty candidates.

The eighth degree, Royal Master will be conferred at one-forty-five o'clock in the afternoon, and the ninth degree, Select Master, at two-thirty, under the direction of the Thrice Illustrious Master, Ray D. Post, and the officers of the Council. Dr. P. M. Cook, E. L. Bash, Frank Christopher, E. J. Light, Dr. F. D. Woodard and Dr. C. E. Page, assisted by twenty others.

Columbus Council No. 8, of Columbus, Ohio, will arrive on a special coach on the 3:28 P. M. train with eighty men, for the purpose of conferring the tenth degree, Super Excellent Master, in the evening. This is one of the most beautiful and elaborate degrees of the York Rite system, and it will be the first time that it has been conferred in Washington, so large is the cast required for it. Columbus Council has become famous with its noted cast for this degree, and is frequently the guest of various cities in Ohio to confer it. Last Friday they were the guests of the Chillicothe Council, and again demonstrated their ability to confer it ably.

It will be conferred at seven o'clock in the evening on probably one hundred candidates, as many members of the local Council have never received it, and Fayette Council has cordially invited members of neighboring Councils to be present for it. It is well known that Columbus Council will handle the situation in a most able manner, although it will be the largest number of candidates on which they have conferred it, and this meeting is attracting many Masons from neighboring towns. Fayette Council is preparing to receive three hundred members, who will be given a banquet at five-thirty in the evening.

Several noted Masons will be in the Columbus cast. The work will be in charge of Robert H. Pausch, 33 degree, and Campbell M. Voorhes, 33 degree and Past Grand Commander of Knights Templar in Ohio, will have a prominent role. Rev. V. F. Brown, Grand Chaplain of the Grand Council of Ohio, will be present to inspect the Council, and possibly the Grand Master of Ohio may attend. The Thrice Illustrious Master, of Columbus Council, W. O. Jameson has promised to excel their former efforts, and local Cryptic Rite Masons are anticipating one of the most enjoyable affairs in the history of the order.

WOOD PROPOSED FOR RANK OF GENERAL

MAJOR-GENERAL WOOD

Promotion of Major General Leonard Wood to the rank of general, the same as now held by General Pershing and General Bliss, was proposed to the Secretary of War by Representative Olney of Massachusetts. Representative Olney, who is a member of the House Committee on Military Affairs, declared "the promotion would be of tremendous importance in shortening and ultimately winning the war, because of the military genius of Major General Wood."

WARNING! TEST ALL SEED CORN

Two suggestions have come to us during the past week concerning the seed corn situation that seem to us worthy of careful attention in view of the seriousness of the situation.

One correspondent reports that by actual test those ears in the shock or in standing corn that are on the ground and have been covered with snow during the winter, show a high vitality. The ears that have been on the ground and covered with snow can be easily distinguished by their dark husks. The explanation sounds plausible and deserves further attention.

Another suggestion is that seed for ensilage corn should be secured, as far as possible, from sources to the south of our latitude, thus making available a greater home supply for the dry corn crop. While no one is willing to advocate the planting of foreign seed, especially from south of our latitude, for the production of ear corn, this same seed frequently gives a better ensilage crop than home-grown seed.

Only individual ear-testing will prevent poor stand, replanting, low yields and unprofitable crops next year. There is too much at stake to permit the reckless and careless planting of untested seed. SAFETY FIRST. TEST ALL SEED CORN.—State Department of Agriculture.

HUNS REHEARSE THEIR ATTACK

(By American Press)

Paris, March 4.—A plan of attack, including a map of the American positions, indicating every dugout, which was removed from the body of the Prussian captain who led the recent assault upon the sector northwest of Toul, shows how completely the Germans prepare for their raids. The map goes into such detail as to show every machine gun depression in the ground within the American lines. At the bottom there is simply a line drawn, labeled "our front line." Along this line are five shaded portions, each marked "nest."

Four rehearsals were held for the attack, and the troops who made it were especially picked from new arrivals of fresh troops in the sector. They were told that the Americans were in front of them.

After the artillery had nearly leveled the American position the Germans started out from their nests, each of which contained 40 infantrymen, one lieutenant and three pioneers to precede the infantry, and five to follow it. The groups upon the American extreme right went around this flank and the group upon the extreme left carried out a similar movement there.

The two groups in the center had planned to attack directly, but the American defense changed all the plans. When they were met by the heavy machine gun fire from the American lines they saw it would be impossible to gain a footing there, changed their direction and followed the other groups around the flank. The duty of the pioneers preceding the infantry was to clean up any wire that had not been broken by the artillery, while the pioneers who followed carried large quantities of explosives for the purpose of cleaning up the dugouts.

THESE YOUNGSTERS SOAK THE KAISER

In a small village not far from this city, a few days ago, the teacher was taking orders for thrift stamps among the pupils.

There were numerous sales of 25 and 50 cents and one of $1, but some of the youngsters opened their eyes when a lad announced that he wanted $100 worth of the stamps; a smaller brother took $90 worth and a still younger sister subscribed for $45 worth of the savings stamps.

It developed that the three amounts represented the bulk of the savings of the three youngsters, and that they were anxious to let their money sweat the Kaiser.

"I don't see why I shouldn't loan my money to Uncle Sam when it not only aids in kicking the Germans, but pays me much more interest than before," declared one of the pupils.

FISHING CONTEST IS NOW UNDER WAY LIBERAL PRIZES

The annual fishing contest of the Fayette County Fish and Game Protective Association is now under way, and will continue until January 1st, 1919.

Liberal prizes are being arranged for the biggest fish of the leading species in Fayette county, and it is expected that with a few days of good weather there will be a general rush for the streams in an endeavor to pull out the prize takers, although it is expected that the severe winter and low streams at the time of the severe cold have reduced the population among the denizens of the Fayette county streams.

Under the rules governing the contest the season opens March 1st and closes on the last day of the year.
